THAT British North Borneo is making a good start very early in its history as a state is apparent, not only by the accounts received from various sources of what is going on at Elepura, but also by the formation at Shanghai of the Chinese Sabah Land Farming Company. This Company, as its title denotes, has been started with a view of prise in North Borneo, for which purpose it will take up a grant of 40,000 acres of suif-This land provisionally made to Mr. Major, one of the projectors. Of this grant ten thousand acres are, it is stipulated, to contry, and ten thousand of hill land. Company proposes to engage at once in felling and preparing timber for export and, when the land is cleared, to raise pepper tobacco, indigo, sugar, &c., and to plant cocon-nut- and sago palms, cinchons, &c. While these are coming forward crops of cereals such as maize will be grown. No proof is needed of the suitability of the land for the purposes named, for these products are being treated in the Civil and Tung Wah among the crops in Luzon. All fruits lent. A report of the will be round in our and vegetables of the tropics can, in fact, police intelligence. be raised there with ease at any time. The same writer also says, after mentioning the easy terms on which land can be acquired, that the expense of clearing it is not great, as the natives are willing to work at felling trees for low wages, and the timber can be sold to cover part of the chat. It seems to us, however, that a great portion of the timber is not marketable at present on account of the cost of carriage from the interior to the coast, though no doubt better means of transport will be on find their way to the new territory, various natural products which can hardly be utilised at all, will find their value. THE DESTRUCTION BY FIRE OF THE -GARDEN PALACE, SYDNEY.

The following account of this unfortunate ca-

One of the greatest and most destructive fires that has ever occurred in these colonies took place fendants not to have a date of commencement or under the control or management of or used by on the 22nd inst. at Sydney, by which the building known as the "Gardon Palaco," situated near the Botanical gardens, was totally destroyed. The building was erested for the Sydney International Exhibition, which was opened on the 17th Sept. 1879. The fire broke out between 5 and 6 in the morning, and in less than an hour a building that had been one of the most conspicuous objects in Sydney and was a favourite resort both alike of the inhabitants and of visitors from all the onlonies was a mass of smouldering ruins. It is conjectured that the fire was caused by an explosion atreamers of smoke were issuing from the sumhue. It seemed to be but the work of a few of gas. Immediately after its outbreak huge mit. The dome itself rapidly assumed a flery moments when with a terrific crash the dome gave way, the heavier portions descending, while the coating of sine work was sent flying far andwide into the air. Plames of terrific proportions burst forth. The skeleton of the timberwork adjacent to the dome, which was now full ablaze appeared like a magnificent firework design. Presently it gave a crush, as in a short time did a portion of the walls at the western end. Long ere this the last portion upon which the flames took full effect was the northern and near the Government house outbuildings. From the outset the lond roar of the flemes were something terrible, and could be heard a long distance off. The south tower and walls fell with a crash resembling the report of heavy ordusace. In each case the fall of the towers and walls was foreseen, consequently sufficient warning was given not only to the firemen on duty inside the fence, but also to the crowds outside whenever the wording of the petition; he at first imagined the Ordinance to sunonnce the winning numbers mentary oscillation, the burning timberwork it was in the present case. The contract was in any public place. It would therefore be descended with a crashing sound amongst the mass of burning rubbish below. After a staggering movement of the main austaining walls. they fell with a terrifle crash.

A large number of very valuable documents connected with the railway surveys were destroyed, and their destruction will make a re-survey of several hundred miles of country necessary, and will delay some of the most important railway extensions in the colony. Amongst the nictures destroyed were several exhibits from Victoria New Zealand, and Tasmania. Signor Ferrarini had sent one dicture valued at £700 for Exhibition. IMPERIAL QUARTO. INNGLISH AND CHINESE Japan to Europe. . DICTIONARY. WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION. An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to goin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations, are given, the accents being carefully marked on the best Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, schieving a clearness not previously Anna, Ger. bark, W. Jessen.—Wieler & Co.

terized Chinese publications: To illustrate the vast scope of the work, the following facts are submitted for consideration :-Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English Christian, German schooner, C. Kossow. and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600.000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammars, and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various applications and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples

For practical purposes the arrangement of understand nothing but Chinose. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all NIIGATA MARU, Jap. str., J. Wynn.-M. R. Europeaus residing in China, and to the natives M. S. S. Co.
themselves it explains subjects fully with which Rockhurst. Brit. str., Bulford.—Russell & Co. very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested In China it cannot but be invaluable occasion. SUAL Brit. str., Parker, -- Melchers & Co.

NORSE PEOPLE.

THE BEST FISH STORY YET. A rich proprietor at the interior had made to establish a pond artificial, where found themselves agglomerated 3,000 trout. This proprietor is the father of a girling of from five to six. She had taken the habitude to go each morning to give to eat to the trouts at the aid of crumbs of bread. The fishes were become so entamed that they skipped out of the water for to attrap the crumbs which the infant held in the crevice of her hand. It arrived one day that she lost her equilibrium, and she fell the head first in the pond, of which the water was enough profound. At the cries emitted by the girling the father was run himself. But what horror! He saw his infant extended without movement at the surface, where she floated as a cork. What was not the surprise of the father in seeing that she had been supported by a mass compact of trouts. The fishes had arranged themselves under her body as to sustain and to prevent her from drowning. If this history is truthful, the fishes are not so much deprived of the intelligence as one pleased himself to believe. - Translation from the French.

It has been frequently said of late that To the outlying settler the bim, and mentioned that, by a curious coin- lished a pamphlet on "Religion and Art," The correspondents came to the conclusion that to change his accustomed mode of life, and therefore his advocacy of vegetarianism is N. Boyaton theoretical only. His words, however, have P. Pondleton influenced some of his friends and admirers Prosperity to be practical regeturians. In July and Rockhurst August, at the performance of 'Parsifal' in Ruthin Bayreuth, care was taken to provide for the S. D. Carleton vegetarians, who had a separate dining-room in the rooms of the club 'Frensing.' The vegetarians were about 40 in number, and the society downstairs became curious to. taste the Venetian soup, which was found to be good, and so the soupend the vegetables were cooked for all without flosh meat. Consequently the separation ceased. 'Clean' soup and vegetables were given to every visitor, and that after that the vegetarians ordered their fruit and the flesh-eaters their roast beef in close proximity. But it was Miramar very agreeable for a vegetarian to feel him- Posning self nearest to the heart of the 'Master of Bayreuth, and to be a fully acknowledged guest not liable to the sacors of publicans.
